INTRODUCTION

Human Technopole is the Italian Research Institute for Life Sciences. Our mission is to promote human's health and well-being, spreading awareness among citizens that scientific progress is a global public good.

Our spaces are open to visitors, families and members of the local community. Events organised on Human Technopole premises may be of scientific and/or educational nature or aimed at the wide range of stakeholders of the institute.

AUDITORIUM

A blue-tinted photograph of an empty auditorium. Rows of dark, upholstered seats are arranged in a tiered fashion, facing a stage area. The ceiling is white with several stage lights and speakers hanging from it. The walls are also white, with some small rectangular openings or windows visible. The overall atmosphere is clean and modern. A white geometric graphic, consisting of several intersecting lines forming a star-like pattern, is overlaid on the right side of the image.

COVERED PIAZZA

The image is a high-angle, blue-tinted photograph of a modern architectural courtyard. The structure is characterized by a complex, curved, and layered design, with multiple levels and walkways. A central square area is visible, surrounded by the building's structure. The image is overlaid with white geometric lines, including a prominent diagonal line and several intersecting lines forming a grid-like pattern on the right side. The text "COVERED PIAZZA" is written in a white, sans-serif font in the upper left corner.
